Cats Upset Bucs

Bucs Downed By 'Cats 14-2 In 'Big Game'

In an unexpected Big Game upset, an inspired Los Gatos High School eleven walked over the Campbell High School grid squad to peg a final score of 14-2 in the Thanksgiving day game at the 'Cats' field. The Bucs thus tied Santa Clara for second place in the SCVAL 1949 season play with a 4-2 league record.

A first quarter safety went to the Bucs on a Los Gatos clipping penalty which put the 'Cats on their own two-yard line. Jim Wagner received a high pass from center and stepped back out of the end zone.

Campbell was penalized shortly after the second quarter began, and on its own two-yard line was unable to gain. They tried a punt when unable to move back up the field, and Los Gatos took the ball down to score the winning touchdown. In the third quarter the 'Cats surged down the field to score again.

Thirty-five hundred fans attended the local Big Game.

CAR TICKETS TO BE DRAWN BY SANTA CLAUS

Santa Claus himself will pick the winner on Thursday, December 22, when Campbell merchants will award the new Plymouth deluxe sedan to a Campbell shopper. Chairman of presentation arrangements Cel Gerevas, said the ceremony is planned for 7 p.m., December 22 at the grammar school lighted softball field.

Mr. Claus will draw four tickets from the Western Gravel truck's rotating cement mixer. Each ticket will be honored 72 hours, that is, the first number will be announced. If the ticket holder does not present himself within 72 hours, the second number will be honored for 72 hours, and on thru the four until a winner presents himself.

Although it is unlikely that a winner cannot be found with the first four tickets, a second drawing will be held if nobody claims the car by the end of the fourth number's 72 hours.

A special program is being readied by Gerevas and fellow committee members Dobie Jeffers and Pete Lico. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the program and view the car which will be on display.

Gerevas issued a reminder that no ticket drawn will be honored unless it bears the name and address of the stub holder.

Campbell merchants participating in the Buy In Campbell campaign have been issuing the free car tickets to their customers during the past two months.

Two Campbell residents were involved in an auto crash Wednesday on Campbell Ave. at its intersection with Central Avenue. There were no injuries, no citations. California Highway Patrol officer Ed Lee investigated.

Drivers were Frances Hunter, 32, 765 Fewtrelle Drive, and James R. Spillman, 17, of 415 S. Union Avenue.

Rotarians View Fassin Films Of Guatemala Tour

Dr. Gustave Fassin of Los Gatos, noted physicist, showed films of his recent trip to Guatemala when he spoke before the Campbell Rotary Club Monday noon in the IOOF Hall. Chairman of the day Ed Hubert introduced the speaker and gave a brief outline of his background. Dr. Fassin was born in Belgium and graduated from the University of Paris.

He came to this county in 1930 to teach physics at the University of Rochester. After nine years, he joined the faculty of Cal Tech where he remained during the war years. Although now retired, he is consulting physicist for Moffett Field Air Base.

Dr. Fassin described the population of Guatemala as 85 percent Indian of Mayan descent, five percent Spanish and 10 percent Ladinos. The country, he said, has a rugged volcanic terrain. The native villages are unique for their cleanliness, and the Guatemalans wear colorful costumes. Each village has its own traditional costume.

Living is comparatively easy in the Central American country for food is plentiful and the leaves of the maguey plants provide fiber for clothing material.

Dr. Fassin said tuberculosis is extremely prevalent in Guatemala due largely to the native practice of sleeping on the ground.

Catholicism and paganism are interwoven in the native religion, the speaker told Rotarians. He said the town of Chichicastenango has two churches, one for the living and the other for the dead.

One of the largest markets in the country, he said, is located at San Fernando el Alto in Guatemala.

In closing, he showed pictures of the new Paracutin volcano in Mexico, which was very active during his tour of the country.

During the program a trio composed of David Rutherford, Emerson Arends and Cel Gerevas sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia." Henry Congable introduced a guest, Fred Jones Jr.

A very excellent turkey dinner was provided for the members at this meeting.

Yule Lights, Decorations, Go Up Sunday

Contributions of Campbell merchants are being turned in for the Christmas season street decorations which the merchants of the community will sponsor. Decorations are expected to be installed Sunday. Nelson Electric will do the wiring and the Volunteer Fire Department will help with the installation.

Merchants are being asked to give generously. This year at least $600 will be needed in order to cover cost of poles and some new decorations. Fifty dollars has been received to date by the collection committee, chairman Frank Accardi has announced.

The committee which is calling on local businessmen to receive their donations to the fund includes: Byron Botts, Dobie Jeffers, Andy Santana, Norman Corvello, Fred Jones, T. R. Solari, Mrs. Lola Porter and Accardi.

Street areas to be decorated include Campbell Avenue from Gilman to Winchester, and Winchester Avenue from Campbell Avenue to Rincon Avenue.

Hooked Fender

Vehicle owners exchanged references this afternoon at about 3:15 after an accident on Campbell Avenue in front of Virginia City shopping center. G. A. Lathrop, 306 N. Winchester Avenue, was parking his pickup truck when his rear bumper hooked the left front fender of a parked car belonging to R. W. Hughes of the Virginia City Grill. Lathrop agreed to have the fender repaired at his expense.

Bank Your Life-Saving Blood Dec. 14; Make An Appointment Now To Donate

Three Campbell residents will represent the local blood bank at the Four-County Blood Bank dinner to be held November 30 in San Jose. Delegates from here will be J. F. Levenberg, Campbell Blood Program chairman; Dr. J. Frederick Snyder and Mrs. Ethan Lanphear.

Thirty-five persoons have signed up to date for the coming blood bank collection in Campbell December 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Methodist Parish House, but this is not enough. At least 75 donors are needed, according to Levenberg, to keep the community's emergency blood supply above the danger point.

All donations of blood made during mobile unit visits to Campbell are credited to the community at the Regional Blood Center in San Jose, and Campbell citizens may draw against that blood credit when it is required. No charge is made for this blood.

Prospective donors may make appointments for the Wednesday, December 14, visit, by phoning either Mrs. Lanphear, Campbell 3655, or Mr. Levenberg, at Campbell 2555.

Few donors are aware of the daily service which they give to fellow citizens through their contributions of blood. Physicians frequently call on the blood center for plasma for post-operative transfusions when the operation may otherwise have been of so serious a nature as to cause the patient to go into shock. Auto accident victims receive the blood; young mothers after delivery of new babies; victims of serious burns in the home or the industrial plant, all these and many more are everyday recipients of life-giving blood or its derivatives.

It isn't always the other fellow who needs the blood. You who give on December 14, may well be thankful later when, through some emergency, you may draw against the credit which you have set up through depositing at the blood bank. Bank your blood on December 14, says Levenberg, and be prepared for that rainy day accident when your blood may save your own life or that of a member of your family.

Spiritual Message Of Thanksgiving For Kiwanians

Turkey and Fixin's were the order of things at Campbell Kiwanis Club Tuesday, in keeping with the Thanksgiving holiday occasion.

Rev. Joyce Farr, pastor of the Methodist Church in San Jose and son-in-law of the chairman of the day John Lynden, brought a spiritual message pertinent to the holiday. He gave Kiwanians a reminder to really appreciate the many blessings which the Giver of All Good Things bestowed on them in their daily living. A spirit of gratitude and humility, he said, should be a mark of this holiday.

"We are inclined to over-emphasize some things which are relatively unimportant and under-emphasize some things which should be of extreme importance." His plea was to return in greater strength to spiritual welfare and appreciate the true values of life.

Visitors at the meeting were Neal Royer of Campbell and William Capener of Los Gatos.

The president's and secretary's conference was announced for January 21 in Fresno.

Next week Dr. J. C. Johannes will speak on "Experiences in India." Herbert Shadle will be chairman of the day. Dr. Johannes, who opened medical offices in Campbell last October 24, was in Mission Service in India and Burma for 14 years.

PTA Raises $330 In Successful Variety Show

A sellout variety show last Friday netted the Campbell Grammar School Parent-Teacher Association approximately $330, and PTA members are discussing plans to make the variety show a yearly project.

All seats were sold, and so was the candy, and Mrs. Lloyd Brown, president, extends her thanks to the parents and friends who cooperated to make the event so successful. Receipts will be used to purchase robes for the school glee club.

The Footlighters presented a one-act play during the show; Kenneth Wallace, Campbell High School dramatics instructor, was the master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Clifford Gerlach was PTA chairman of the program. School youngsters took part in the program of folk dancing, skits, music and impersonations, and were assisted by faculty and PTA members.

Los Altans Hear Martin S. Walsh

Attorney Martin S. Walsh of Campbell was the speaker at the Los Altos Kiwanis Club Tuesday. His subject was "Exploding the Myth." Walsh explained many things which are accepted as fact, but which upon study and investigation prove to be quite the contrary, such as "How often does a century plant bloom?"; Why is cement called Portland?" "Does lightning ever strike twice in the same place?" "Will a spoon placed in a glass keep hot water from breaking the glass?"

Problems Discussed

Grand Jury To Get Fammatre Case On Monday

District Attorney N. J. Menard will submit the case of Mrs. Dorothy Fammatre, 36, of 98 New Jersey Avenue, Campbell, to the County Grand Jury Monday afternoon. Mrs. Fammatre has allegedly admitted shooting her husband, James Joseph Fammatre, 40, Campbell rancher, at their home Saturday. The Grand Jury will be asked to decide whether Mrs. Fammatre should be indicted or released on grounds of self-defense.

Mrs. Fammatre, married less than a year ago in Nevada, reportedly phoned officers late Saturday that she had just shot her husband. Sheriff's deputies who arrived shortly found Fammatre on the kitchen floor with a bullet wound in his chest. In a chair sat Mrs. Fammatre weeping. A 22-caliber rifle was found nearby.

Officers said Mrs. Fammatre was hysterical. At County Jail, where she is being held on an open charge, Mrs. Fammatre reportedly told officers she and her husband had quarreled Saturday morning when they arose after a drinking party Friday night. During the argument, she said, her husband was chasing her around the outside of the house with a paring knife, and she allegedly picked up the .22 rifle and fired one shot to frighten him. When he tried to disarm her, she told officers, she shot him with a second bullet.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in San Jose for Fammatre, with Disabled American Veterans, Chapter 11, in charge. Interment was at Oak Hill Memorial Park.

The rancher leaves, besides his wife; his daughter, Joan Marie Fammatre, Castroville; sister, Mrs. Marie Ritz, San Jose; uncle Charles Fammatre of Campbell. He was a native of Passaic, New Jersey.

L. G. Baptist Jr. Will Open Store House Of Carpets

"The House of Carpets" featuring rugs, carpets and linoleum, will be opened next Monday, November 28, at 212 E. Campbell Avenue by Leonard G. Baptist Jr., former manager-buyer of L. Hart and Son in the carpet department.

Baptist, who has a large following in this area through his former association in the carpeting business, will feature a special service: "House of Carpets Portable," a home sample selection service available to customers day or evening, which will aid in selection of colors and styles.

Owner Baptist attended Campbell Grammar School and High School, class of '43, and majored in business administration at San Jos State College. His wife is the former Nancy Whitmark who attended Lincoln High School and San Jose State. They have a son, Bryan, one year old. Although they now live in San Jose, the Baptists are seeking a home in Campbell.

A complete selection of name brands will be carried at House of Carpets, which will include Mohawk and Bigelow Carpets.

The store will be located in the eastern wing of the Currie Building, where a variety of modern lighting and display equipment will aid the customers, and a major part of the store will be given over to retail display space.

Fined $200 For Drunk Driving

Clyde Milsap, 30, of Campbell, was fined $200 Tuesday on a charge of driving while drunk. Justice of the Peace Grandin H. Miller fined Milsap after the Campbell man peladed guilty to the October 16 charge.

Mrs. J. W. Knowles Gives Report On State Conference On Youth Problems

Youth, its problems and how to help solve them, were the basic matters under discussion at an intensive four-day conference held at Asilomar November 17 through 20. Mrs. J. W. Knowles of Campbell, representing the Sixth District Parent-Teacher Association as its fourth vice-president and director of public welfare, joined 249 other delegates registering from Eureka in the north to San Diego in the south. There were school superintendents, members of the State Board of Education, teachers, social workers, PTA members, State Board of Youth Commissioners, California Youth Authority members, probation and juvenile protection officers at the convention sponsored by the California Youth Authority.

Delegates were divided into four main conference sections—health and welfare, recreation, education, and juvenile police work. Within these divisions were many smaller discussion groups which considered such matters as main problems of youth, how to help youth solve its problems, how to give youth more responsibility in order to develop more mature emotions and to ready youth for life's problems and how to develop more mature parents through parent education.

WEAKEST CONTROL

Dr. Ralph Eckert, member of the State Board of Education, told delegates that the PTA is most needed on the secondary school level where control is weakest. The primary level is well controlled he said.

Another speaker told of his world travels during which he observed a great religious awakening apparent throughout the world. Sixty percent of the church membership abroad, he said, is under 25 years of age. He spoke of the need to meet youth's crying need for religious education.

This conference, in preparation for the mid-century White House conference on Youth problems, prepared a number of recommendations to submit to the national gathering. A member of the national committee on the White House conference told delegates that much is expected from this California meeting due to the vast variety of the state's religious, population and juvenile problems. Thirty-three different organizations, including PTA, law enforcement, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls and others, participated in the work of the gathering, and a dozen young people took part in the discussions and worked on committees with the adults.

Mrs. Knowles will make her report on the meeting at the Sixth District PTA session December 3 in Hollister, and again at the Campbell High School PTA meeting December 14.

Old Settlers' Day And Parking Plans Before C of C

Fourth District County Supervisor Joseph McKinnon met with the Campbell Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday evening to discuss this community's business district parking problem.

In his talk with the board, McKinnon referred to the merchants' petition for solution of the parking troubles and pointed out that any county ordinance put into effect which would place a parking time limit would, in turn, create an enforcement problem.

This enforcement problem appeared to be the main stumbling block in correcting the parking trouble and McKinnon promised to study the matter and meet further with chamber officers either in December or January.

William C. Henley, Old Settlers' Day chairman, met with the board and presented an outline of his proposed program for the annual February 22 event. Chamber directors approved the plan and offered support in detail planning.

McKinnon sat in on a round table discussion of needed improvements for the community, including streets and sewers, and agreed to take these under study with possibility of proposing solutions or means of obtaining improvements discussed.

Welfare Staff Discusses Mental Health Service

The Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County was the subject of discussion at the monthly staff meeting of County Welfare Department social workers held November 18 at the department offices on W. St. James Street, San Jose. County Welfare Worker, Mrs. Ruth de Coux serving the Campbell area attended the meeting.

Upon invitation of Mrs. Mary Edith Clifford, County Welfare Director, Mrs. Ruth Maher, chief psychiatric social worker of the Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County, clarified functions, policies, and procedures of the Service especially concentrating on referrals of patients to the Service for treatment and on ways for arranging consultation on cases.

The monthly staff meetings of the Welfare Department are one of the means by which the welfare workers keep abreast of current developments in welfare administration and in community organization and resources.

For administrative convenience the entire county is divided into case load districts to each of which a social worker is assigned. Workers from all districts attend the monthly staff meetings.

Let's Browse IN THE CAMPBELL LIBRARY

What Betty MacDonald did for the egg, Beatrice Gray Cook does for the fish in an amusing and interesting book recently arrived at the Campbell branch of the County Free Library. Mrs. Elizabeth Singletary, county librarian, gives review of this book and other recent arrivals at the library.

Cook, Beatrice Gray.
Till Fish Do Us Part; the Confessions of a Fisherman's Wife. 1949.

From the first chapter, when Mrs. Cook describes the dilemma which faced her on her honeymoon of becoming either a fishwife or a fish-widow, the "Confessions" make very funny reading. Her memories of countless fishing trips which might include one or all of such problems as bad weather, accidents, demanding babies, or uncongenial companions are offset by other memories of wonderful experiences and real fun shared with her family. The author has the enviable gift of being able to laugh at herself and, as one reader has said, she has done for the fish what Betty MacDonald did for the egg. Descriptions of the coast and inland waters in Washington add to the general enjoyment of this exceptionally human story.

Eaton, Evelyn.
The North Star is Nearer. 1949.

A vendetta in Corsica, an embarassing meeting with English royalty and wartime experiences in Africa and China are some of the highlights in Miss Eaton's autobiography which continues the delightful and amusing story of her life begun in "Every Month Was May." Travelling as often and as far as opportunity has presented itself, the author is capable of spinning an entertaining story from slight incidents; this ability coupled with sympathetic understanding and a keen eye for contrasts, results in as readable a book as the historical novels for which Miss Eaton is so well known.

Morrison, Ray.
Angel's Camp. 1949.

The regeneration of a juvenile delinquent in a new kind of erform institution is told in the story of the successful efforts of one of the councillors in Camp Mathews to rehabilitate sixteen-year-old Leo Zubiat. Supposedly a state camp for delinquents in California, Camp Mathews had neither imprisoning fences nor the usual modes of punishment, but in an atmosphere of understanding and trust, attempted to build good citizens from the youthful criminals committed by the courts. Told by a man who has had experience in the field of that which he writes, the novel is a documentary semi-fictional treatment of this painfully significant theme.

Taylor, Mrs. Rosemary.
Come Clean, My Love. 1949.

A broken-down laundry provides the setting for the story of Wyatt Bruce, who lived happily on his mother's alimony checks until the money abruptly stopped. Wyatt was faced with a situation in which the family's only asset was a half share in a run-down laundry. Cutthroat competition, broken machinery and his mother's peculiar business methods did not defeat nor discourage the family's efforts, and eventually the business began to pay, two romances were promoted and Wyatt felt justified in marrying his Cordelia. The author of "Chicken Every Sunday" has turned to fiction and in this airy volume provides ideal fall entertainment.

TB Association Annual Seal Sale Gets Underway

The 43rd national annual Christmas Seal Sale got underway locally Monday, with the mailing out of 78,000 letters containing Seals to all parts of Santa Clara County.

"Christmas Seals make possible the program of the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis Assocition," president Doctor Anita D. Laton said in commenting on the sale opening. "Every time we buy and use Christmas Seals we make it plain that we are solidly behind the association's work of preventing and controlling tuberculosis in this community. The projects of the tuberculosis association are aimed at raising the health standards of this community, case-finding through the mass chest X-raying program, health education, and research to help find a cure for tuberculosis. Funds raised this year will be used for the further expansion of this program."

The 1949 Christmas Seal was drawn by Herbert Meyers of Leonia, N.J., whose design won first prize in a nationwide competition sponsored by the Society of Illustrators, a national organization of outstanding artists, illustrators, and art directors.

Sale will extend through Christmas Day. Citizens are urged to make their returns in the pink insert envelope as promptly as possible.

The Observer's subscriber list continues to grow as readers send in their subscriptions. New subscriptions will be dated from December 15, 1949, the date on which the Observer becomes a completely paid subscription paper.

A separate mailing plate system has been set up for these new subscribers, and all the old plates for those whose subscriptions have expired will be discarded on December 15. Subscription rate until that date is $2 per year. After December 15, the rate will be $2.50 per year.

Those who plan to subscribe by December 15 are asked to send in their subscription notices as soon as possible in order that the new plates may be made up by that date.

Our thanks to all of you who have subscribed. May your number continue to increase.

These folks mean business for the West... Pacific Telephone people receive pay adding up to $19,000,000 a month.

Telephone paychecks also come to you

1. Timber . . . paper . . . copper—we have to buy many things to build and run the telephone system. Last year Western Electric, our principal manufacturer and supplier, bought over 20 million dollars worth of materials in the West. More than half of each dollar we take in goes for employees. Most of it is spent and goes into circulation where they work and live.

2. More than 80,000 of those whose savings built the business . . . who own telephone stock . . . live in the West. In return for the use of their money, a few pennies of each telephone dollar go to them. And as they spend it, they also add to Western prosperity. It would probably be hard to find anyone who does not in some way benefit from the money we spend.

3. When you add it all up, you find the money you spend for service comes back, in large part, to you. And your telephone dollars are buying more service than ever. Today you can call more of the people you want to call . . . more can call you. And your telephone still does its jobs for only a few pennies a call.

Seventh Degree Awarded To 21 Local Grangers

Twenty-one members of Cupertino Grange 739 were among the 45,000 to take the seventh degree, the highest honor the Patrons of Husbandry can bestow, at the 83rd National Grange convention at Sacramento Friday.

Cupertino Patrons receiving the degree were: Master Dwight F. Sheffer and Mrs. Florence Sheffer, Marvin and Ruth Blair, George and Helen Ames, Paul and Amy Bean, Ernest and Frieda Angelo, Frederick and Elizabeth Wood, George and Tillie Loyst, Lester and Mary Breeding, Fred and Maxine Grevstad, Kenneth Martin, Grace Wallin and Nella Severs.

After the initiation these patrons were among 137 from Santa Clara County who enjoyed a dinner at Wilson's Cafe.

A discussion of the State and National conventions will be a feature of the business session at the next Cupertino Grange meeting, while the movie, "Chicken of Tomorrow Contest," which has finally arrived, will be shown on the lecturer's program.

Next meeting has been set for Friday, November 25 at the Cupertino IOOF Hall.

SJSC Thespians Prepare Comedy 'John Loves Mary'

San Jose State College's Speech and Drama instructor, Elizabeth Loeffler, will direct Norman Krasna's good-humored comedy, "John Loves Mary," for the college's second production of the current drama season.

Scheduled for the second week in December, this outstanding Broadway success has the lighthearted spirit appropriate to the season. The play opens Thursday, December 8 and runs through Tuesday, December 13, except for Sunday. Miss Loeffler chose a cast of upper classmen to appear in her production.

Joan Buechner plays Mary McKinley and Don Paerlman is John Lawrence. Bill Furnell is Fred Taylor, Matt Pelto is Senator James McKinley, Evelyn McCurdy is Mrs. McKinley, Clifford Roche is Lt. Victor O'Leary, Jack Byers is George Beechwood, Gwenn Samuelson is Lily Herbish, and Stanley Schwimmer is Harwood Biddle.

The action of the play takes place in the living-room of the apartment of Senator James McKinley in the St. Regis Hotel, New York. John Lawrence who has been overseas three years is welcomed home by his sweetheart, charming Mary McKinley. John's life has been saved while he is overseas by his buddy, Fred Taylor, who got back to the United States a year earlier than John. To give Fred a pleasant surprise, John marries Fred's English girl friend who could not hope to get to America for years unless as the wife of a G. I. G. I. John therefore marries her and plans to deliver her to Fred. John plans to get a quick divorce from Lily and then marry Mary.

The plan seems possible enough, if a little unusual, until John discovers that his good friend, Fred, has, in the meantime, not only married, but is an expectant father. The antics that follow this dilemma will provide a hilarious evening for Little Theatre audiences.

Ticket sales will open Monday, November 28. Since the demand for season tickets has been so great, Speech and Drama Department Head, Hugh W. Gillis, advises playgoers who wish to buy individual tickets to make their reservations as early as possible.

The first Pony Express rider from St. Joseph, Missouri, arrived in San Francisco April 14, 1860.

Successful Parenthood

BY

MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

THESE days, it's a rare schoolboy or girl who doesn't have some absorbing sideline interest. Visit almost any home in the land and you'll find a bookworm, a chemistry bug, a collector of records, a star-gazer, or a youthful mechanic. And a fine thing, too. Out of these fascinating hobbies often come lifetime careers—or at least avocations that enrich one's leisure time.

But there's even more to be gleaned from such activities. Properly guided, our boys and girls can broaden their outlooks and develop social understanding through many of their hobbies. But we'll have to be there to show them the way.

Take the young "star-gazer," for example. As he studies the mysteries of the skies, he begins to realize the majesty of vast spaces and the wonder of the planets. He can sense the contrast between the discord and upheaval among people and nations on this earth and the glorious, orderly universe that was created by a greater power. He can begin to understand how petty and stupid prejudices are—and how much better off we'd be if we devoted our energies to getting along with our neighbors instead of finding fault with them. He can—if we give him just that little push into thinking such thoughts as he looks through his telescope.

Or suppose we had a chemistry enthusiast in the family. As he delves into his hobby, he'll meet up with blood chemistry. Does he realize that almost every minute, in hospitals around the world, people are receiving blood transfusions from other people of every kind? Whose blood went into those veins? Nobody knows or cares.

Rich folks and poor, black, white and yellow-skinned, Protestants, Catholics, Jews, Mohammedans and Buddhists they give blood and they receive it. Red corpuscles are the same in any language. Our lives may be saved by anyone, or any race or creed, whose "blood type" matches our own. Here is a potent lesson in brotherhood. Let's point it out.

No matter what your youngster's hobby, there is more to be drawn out of it than just the hobby itself. See how you can link it up with his daily life. Try to tie it in with the ideals he needs to develop as he grows up. Then pass your thoughts along. They'll bear good fruit in the years ahead.

This is the affirmative approach, but we have to guard against negative influences too. A wise lady once said, "A child will absorb narrow prejudices and intolerances just as quickly as newly churned butter will absorb bad odors." We can spare our children that, if we will but try.

Demonstration Of Peach Tree Pruning Tuesday

The Agricultural Extension Service will give a pruning demonstration on peach trees Tuesday morning, November 29, at 10 a'clock at the E. F. Gallegor home at 371 Downing Avenue. Downing Avenue turns west off the San Jose-Los Gatos Road, about one-half mile south of the county hospital. Look for box no. 358.

Another demonstration on home orchard fruit will be given at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 30 at the H. B. Herty home in Los Gatos. Turn west on Greenwood Road for about one mile from Los Gatos on the Los Gatos-Saratoga Road. Follow the signs from this point. Greenwood Road is well marked. Edward J. Bowles, farm adviser, will be in charge of demonstrations.

Guild To Present Vatican Organist Fernando Germani

The American Guild of Organists is a group of musicians who stand for the best in organ music. The San Jose chapter of this guild has for several years presented the finest organists in concert, that the people in this vicinity might hear some of this great music written for the organ.

First concert this year will bring Fernando Germani, Chief Organist at the Vatican in Rome. Mr. Germani is considered one of the finest organists of the present day and the guild believes that they are most fortunate to be able to bring such a great organist to this vicinity.

The concert will be given at the First Methodist Church, Fifth and Santa Clara Streets, San Jose, on Monday, November 28, at 8:15 p.m. The public is invited. No admission will be charged.

All those who attend the recital are cordially invited to meet Mr. Germani at a reception to be held after the concert in the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy V. Brant, 1166 Martin Ave., San Jose.

The guild has three members living in Campbell: Mrs. Kathleen S. Bergeron, Mrs. Beulah Ytterness Herbold and Mrs. Reginald Greenbrook.

Gopher Control Demonstration At A. A. Lage Orchard

A gopher control demonstration will be conducted by the Agricultural Extension Service on the Mrs. A. A. Lage orchard, Box 722, McCoy Road, southwest of Campbell, at 2 p.m., Saturday, November 26.

To reach the demonstration, go out either San Tomas or Quito Roads to McCoy, which is midway between the two roads. The Lage orchard is on the north side of McCoy.

The sample method to be shown has proved to thousands of people throughout the state that it is the fastest and most efficient method yet devised. It is perfectly adapted to conditions in alfalfa, hay, and permanent pasture lands as well as in the orchard. Urban and suburban residents will find this system of control especially useful in gardens and lawns.

Farm Adviser G. D. Worswick, who will be in charge, urges all interested parties to attend.

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California).

Peculiarly enough, the one group's opinion going unheeded on pie-in-the-sky farm subsidy proposals now rife in Washington is that of the farm organizations.

Perhaps the Administration figures it knows the farmer's needs better than he does—or maybe the farmer is not supposed to know what is good for him. At any rate, the bureaucratic planners who would limit the number of cabbages that could be grown in a row are doing American agriculture a great disservice. If successful in selling their scheme for high, rigid farm supports and accompanying controls on production, the end can mean only regimentation of all farmers.

In fact it is time that the farmer was heard, for those same self-styled "friends" of the farmer are creating resentment in the public mind against him. The public is being conditioned to viewing the farmer as a person who wants a favored spot in life at the expense of other segments of the economy.

To the contrary, as expressed by the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives at its recent meeting in Wisconsin, all evidence points to the fact "that a national farm program designed to prevent disastrously low farm prices and to maintain a balance between supply and demand is imperative if American agriculture and the national economy are to escape disaster.

"The National Council favors a policy which will reflect to farmers a fair exchange price for their products in the market place. We are unalterably opposed to any plan or program predicated upon direct production or subsidy payments to farmers," the resolution concluded, "which, in effect, result in the taxpayer paying a portion of the consumer's grocery bill."

Henry D. Greene, Executive Secretary of the Pacific Dairy and Poultry Association, able explains the program in this way:

"Better sales and profits are incentives that have put the turkey industry far ahead today. In the last twenty years turkey production and consumption per capita have increased two to three fold. Today's large, broadbreasted, tender, young bird yields 50 percent more meat than the turkeys of several decades ago. Why?

"Because instead of working on salary or being supported on some sort of flat guaranteed income, every grower and every other operator has been striving for the increased returns that come from better products, better services and economics of operation. Result: Mr. and Mrs. America today enjoy a far better turkey and on the average, at reasonable prices compared to similar foods—the true American progress which is constantly improving our standards of living."

Continuing, Greene pointed out that "the only kind of money any turkey grower or distributor receives is the consumer's dollar. But we are reminded there are now also government support purchases. Where did the government get the money for them? Right out of those same consumers' dollars through many forms of taxes.

"Our best sales executives remind us our worst competition is not from within our own industry, but comes from all the other things competing for our consumers' dollars that draw buying power away from our product. A customer only has so many dollars; he can spend each dollar only once.

"A tax increase of four billion dollars would drain out of our customers' pockets as much money as the entire output of our Nation's egg and poultry industries for one whole year.

"Government civilian payrolls," Green declared, "reached an all-time high this year. In California it is estimated that a family of four people pays an average of almost $2000 per year in hidden and direct taxes. Should we not carefully consider this competition of taxes for more of our consumers' dollars when we ask fon more price supports at the expense of those same taxpaying customers to whom we would like to sell more of our products.?"

As Mr. Greene so well states: "Let's also make sure we do not add to taxpayers' burdens by creating additional surpluses by supports at such high levels that overproduction is encouraged on one hand, while we price our product beyond reach of many consumers on the other."

The farmer, Washington's masteminds should know, has never asked for unfair advantage of his fellow man and is not asking for it now.

Mental Health Service of SC County Celebrates Its First Anniversary

The Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County celebrates its first anniversary this week. The Board of Directors observed the event in advance, at its regular monthly meeting held on November 3 at the headquarters of the service in the Porter Building, San Jose. There, under the chairmanship of its president, Dr. Dwight Bissell, director of the San Jose City Health Department, the board considered the first annual report presented by Dr. Rush Faville, Medical Director of the Service.

The board of this private agency represents many communities in the county and consists of Dr. Dwight Bissell, president; Mrs. Calvin K. Townsend, treasurer, Dr. James C. DeVoss of the faculty of San Jose State College; Mr. N. J. Menard, County District Attorney; Dr. George Meyer, San Jose City School Psychologist, and Miss Muriel M. Wright, Juvenile Probation Officer—all of San Jose. Palo Alto board members include Dr. Maude Merrill James, professor of psychology at Stanford University; Dr. Joseph Davis, pediatrician; Mr. Herbert Cornish, realtor, is vice-president of the board; Mrs. Mary Edith Clifford, County Welfare Director, and Dr. Milton Roose, psychiatrist. Mr. Gardner Bullis, attorney, long active in social welfare activities throughout the state, lives in Los Altos; Mrs. Don S. Fuller, secretary of the board; Mrs. Reginald Vaughn, active in PTA and welfare activities; and Mr. Patrick Peabody, attorney and publisher, who chaired the recent successful Community Chest drive in San Jose, are all residents of Saratoga.

PRIVATE AGENCY

Meeting with the board, during the discussion of the annual report, was the professional staff of the private, county-wide agency. The staff was originally composed of Dr. Rush Faville, psychiatrist, as Medical Director; Dr. Ruth Tiedemann, clinical psychologist; Mrs. Ruth Maher, psychiatric social worker, and Mrs. Charlotte Hoque, secretary-receptionist. In April 1949, Dr. Fred Bradshaw came on the staff to serve as psychiatrist, and in June Mr. Kieth Billman was added as psychiatric social worker. The Service psychologist, Dr. Tiedeman, resigned in June when she left the area. Dr. George Muench came to take her place in September of this year.

Board and staff recalled how, soon after the end of the war, the great need of psychiatric services for veterans of this area became so apparent that the San Jose Chapter American Red Cross committed itself to open a Mental Hygiene Clinic to demonstrate to the community the need of such a service and a way in which this need could be met. When, in June 1948, the Red Cross felt these purposes had been accomplished, it withdrew.

Very soon a group of prominent community leaders constituting a Technical Advisory Committee was formed to help the group interested in establishing a mental health service. Serving on this committee were Dr. Pierce Barrete, representative from the County Medical Society; Mr. O. Vincent Bruno, local attorney; Dr. Paul Pitman, Dean at San Jose State College; Dr. Milton Rose, psychiatrist, Palo Alto; Dr. W. Elwyn Turner, Santa Clara County Health Officer; Mrs. Calvin Townsend; Dr. Marshall I Mason, psychiatrist, San Jose; Mr. Joseph Concannon, social worker, Veterans Administration, San Jose; Dr. George Meyers, City School Psychologist; Dr. E. W. Mullen, psychiatrist; Dr. Dwight Bissell, City Health Officer; Mrs. Nan Allan, County School Coordinator, and Mrs. Donald A. Clark, Executive Secretary, Community Welfare Council.

COUNTY-WIDE FACILITY

Within a few months, after the county medical society had offered its cooperation and support, the Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County was organized as a private, non-profit agency under the sponsorship of the Mental Health Society of Santa Clara County, to provide a county-wide mental health facility for the total community. Service to veterans was only a part of the function of the Service, which also aimed to assist other adults, as well as children. The Service opened its doors to the public on November 15, 1948.

The Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County was intentionally called a "service" rather than a "clinic." It was recognized from the start that the shortage of adequately trained psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, and psychiatric social workers was so acute as to make impossible, for many years to come, the handling of the total mental health needs of the community on the basis of individual treatment.

From the beginning, in its incorporation proceedings, its by-laws and opening announcement to the community the Mental Health Service stressed its educational and preventive function.

In a letter announcing the opening of the service, Dr. Rush Faville, Medical Director, said, "The Mental Health Service has been established primarily as an educational community service to work with and advise other groups such as teachers, social workers, and nurses. In addition provision has been made for conference service to social and health agencies. Eventually the Service expects to provide lectures, instruction and reference material where needed and requested in the community."

The division of labor between the Mental Health Service and its sponsor, the Mental Health Society, is gradually becoming defined in the educational field. The Society provides large meetings open to the public at which mental health subjects of interest to laymen are presented and discussed. The Mental Health Service, on the other hand, directs its educational efforts to a more limited group.

During the past year the staff of the Service has participated in many such activities. Dr. Faville conducted twenty hours of discussion with teachers. Mrs. Ruth Maher, Chief Psychiatric social Worker, led twenty hours of discussion with city public health nurses in San Jose. Dr. Ruth Tiedeman, while psychologist of the Service, conducted twelve hours of discussion with each of two groups, one in Palo Alto, the other in Los Gatos. At present, a PTA group in Los Gatos is meeting with Mrs. Maher.

In addition, the staff has given lectures or led discussions with thirteen other groups. These other groups reached through lectures and discussion leadership by staff members of the Service were: Coordinating Guidance Committee, Santa Clara County school Department, Women's Club, Wednesday Workshop, Stanford Delta Kappa Gamma, Psychology Club at San Jose State College, Fee Amettee, Orthopsychiatric Circle, Airport Village Mothers' Club of Santa Clara County. The Service continues to accept requests for speakers, aid in program planning, and discussion group leadership from other allied professional groups and from churches, service clubs, and PTA's.

HUMAN PROBLEMS

During its first year of operation, the Service has exercised its consultation and conference function in many ways. Nineteen patients were seen in consultation for other health and welfare agencies. Twenty social warkers, nine nurses, and five teachers brought the human problems of the people with whom they work to the staff for consultation. Starting in June, Dr. Fred Bradshaw, staff psychiatrist, has been conducting a monthly seminar for social workers from public and private health and welfare agencies througout the county.

In addition to its educational and consultative work, the Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County offers treatment on a part-pay basis to eligible individuals. During its first year of operation a monthly average of 26 persons was referred for this service. These referrals came from a wide variety of sources. Medical sources of referral included psychiatrists and other physicians in private practice, county and city health departments, Palo Alto and County Hospitals, the State Department of Mental Hygiene, and other clinics.

Red feather agencies such as Family Service Association of Santa Clara County, and the Catholic Social Service and Children's Aid as well as other private agencies, including the Red Cross Chapter in San Jose, have also referred patients to the service for treatment.

Legal institutions which have called on the Service for assistance have included the Santa Clara County Juvenile Probation Office, the Palo Alto Juvenile Bureau, the office of the County District Attorney, Police Departments, and lawyers in private practices. The County Veterans' Service officer and the United States Veterans' Administration through its San Jose office, Palo Alto Hospital, and San Francisco offices, have made referrals of veterans of both world wars.

Units of the educational system from the elementary through the college levels have referred many children and young people. Patients have also been referred by the County Welfare Department, vocational guidance officers, clergymen, employers, a dentist, a music teacher, relatives and friends.

VARIETY OF PROBLEMS

The patients who have been seen have presented a wide variety of problems, ranging in age as they have from four to sixty. Developmental problems of children and problems arising out of family relationships and social adjustment in the neighborhood and in school have accounted for many of the referrals of children. Many children with learning or discipline problems in their school life have been referred for diagnosis and/or consultation and treatment.

Youths who have had difficulties with the law, in making occupational choices, or in adjusting to employment conditions have also been seen. Marital and parent-child conflicts have caused many patients to seek help; and physicians have referred patients with somatic complaints for which no organic cause could be found. Many veterans were referred for help in their readjustment to civilian life.

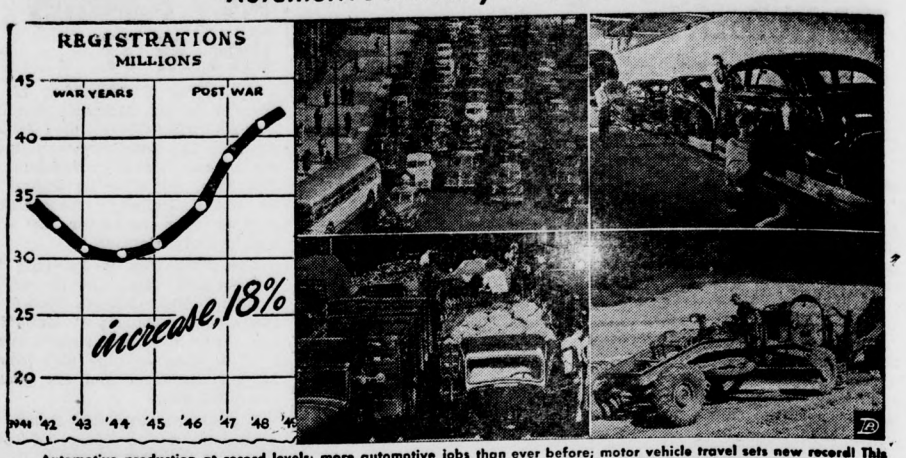

Three hundred applicants have been seen since the first application on November 15, 1948. Of these, 63 were children or adolescents under 18 years of age. A substantial minority of the adults seen have been veterans. A single interview sufficed for 83 of the applicants, while a psychiatric consultation provided adequate planning for nineteen more. One hundred and sixty-two patients entered a sustained treatment program, and 36 patients are now awaiting treatment time. Geographically, the distribution of patients reflects the population density of the various communities of the county. About 65 percent of the patients of the Mental Health Service of Santa Clara reside in four communities—San Jose, Santa Clara, Palo Alto, and Los Gatos. However, the communities of Campbell, Alviso, Gilroy, Los Altos, Mountain View, Morgan Hill, and Sunnyvale are also represented.

The agency's name, the Mental Health Service of Santa Clara County, does not imply that it is a tax-supported county agency. The Service is "county" in the sense that it is county-wide in its coverage.

Operating costs of the service are met by a grant of National Mental Health Act funds from the State Department of Health, a contract with the Veterans' Administration for treatment of veterans with service-connected neuro-psychiatric disabilities, a grant from the Rosenberg Foundation of San Francisco for the Service's work with children, and the fees from patients. Additional support is extended by the City Health Department of San Jose in the form of loan of equipment.

During its first year the Mental Health Service has increased its staff, expanded its quarters in the Porter Building, held an open house during National Mental Health Week last April, attended by 120 guests, and has added group therapy to its treatment program. The accomplishments of the first year are being reviewed; evaluation of the program is continuous in the hope that new ways may be found to increase the effectiveness with which the Service meets the mental health needs of the community it serves.

Automotive Industry Moves Ahead

Automotive production at record levels; more automotive jobs than ever before; motor vehicle travel sets new record! This is the story of progress just revealed in the automotive industry by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

DETROIT—In the first six months of 1949, the automotive industry produced nearly 3,000,000 new cars, trucks and buses—almost as many units as were turned out in the full year of 1946. A steady increase has been registered since the industry surmounted its war reconversion problems. A 55% gain in production was made in 1947 over 1946, and a 10% gain was registered in 1948 over the preceding year. The half year of 1949 is up 20% from the first six months of 1948.

Industry jobs jumped from 6,700,000 in 1941 to 9,020,000 in 1948. This means one out of every seven job holders in the nation earns his wages in the highway transportation industry. These jobs cover manufacturing, road building, sales and service, trucking and miscellaneous work.

Main street is dotted with more businesses keyed to highway transportation, and over 90% of them are small enterprises, employing less than 20 employes each. Business accounts for 56% of all car trips; social and recreational driving is 16% of the total; shopping 12% and other purposes 16%. Rural travel climbed from 169 billion miles in 1941 to 197 billion in 1948. Urban travel increased from 163 billion miles in 1941 to 203 billion in 1948.

Governmental agencies are collecting an all-time high in automotive dollars. Special taxes alone now exceed $3 billion annually, with motor trucks accounting for more than a third of the total. One of the largest tax items is the federal excise levy on new motor vehicles. First invoked as a "temporary emergency measure" in 1932, it has been increased twice since, instead of being repealed.
